Expansion and Renovation Underway

The highly anticipated expansion and renovation project is now underway at Boulder City Hospital. With the help of our elected leaders, Boulder City Hospital received a loan from the USDA for the financing of construction and renovation of a more modern facility, thus allowing us to provide various new services to our community. The first phase of construction will focus on the brand new geriatric-psychiatric wing, which will be located on the west side of the Hospital. In order to allow access for construction equipment and supplies, a portion of our parking lot has been fenced off at this time. A temporary parking lot for Hospital employees has been created at the northeast corner of our property. We have also designated new handicapped and visitor parking outside of the fenced area in order to ensure accessibility and convenience for our patients and visitors during construction. Since 1954, Boulder City Hospital has been committed to providing high quality care and services to our community. As we move forward with our modernization, this commitment stands strong. Your healthcare needs are our top priority. Taking this into consideration, Boulder City Hospital will remain in full operation throughout the entire construction process. We have put much planning and consideration into phasing the construction so that our Hospital can continue to provide quality care to the community we serve. We hope you will join us as we look forward to the future of Boulder City Hospital, which will enrich our community for many years to come.

Geriatric-Psychiatric Care Coming Soon to Boulder City Hospital

Aging can present challenges as we cope with the physical, emotional, and social changes it brings. Disorders such as dementia, Alzheimer’s Disease, depression, and anxiety are not uncommon among the elderly community. A specialized skill set is required in order to make an accurate diagnosis and treatment plan for older adults. With this in mind, Boulder City Hospital will soon unveil a 10-bed geriatric-psychiatric care unit. Geriatric-psychiatric care takes a comprehensive approach in managing behavioral health issues, co-existing medical illnesses and medication, dietary needs, and family and social concerns. The new unit will be staffed with qualified psychiatrists with focused attention on the needs of older adults. Treatment teams will include psychiatric nurses, therapists, and licensed clinical social workers; these treatment teams will work in collaboration with the psychiatrists to meet the needs of each patient.

Boulder City Hospital is excited to be able to offer this program in our community. This program will ensure that seniors receive the proper diagnosis and treatment for their symptoms and provides the elderly population with the ability to maintain hope and peace of mind during the later years of life.

Boulder City’s Choice for Health Care

Family Circle Magazine recently named Boulder City as one of the ten “Best Towns for Families” in the United States. The towns were selected based upon crime rates, financial stability and access to health care. (Source: www.familycircle.com/besttowns)

Boulder City has understood the need for local health care services since the construction of the Hoover Dam. Residents even went door-to-door raising funds to keep Boulder City Hospital open when construction ended. Since Boulder City Hospital is a non-profit hospital and is not supported by tax dollars or a large corporation, it still depends on local support to ensure that the much needed services it provides will be available for future generations.

As we continue to grow, we carefully consider additional service lines to fit the needs of our community. Our modernization project is designed for an “age in place” facility for expanded care and treatment of our senior population. These additional services will continue to provide individualized care - without the wait, without the drive, in a familiar and friendly setting.

We are dedicated to maintaining access to top-quality hometown health care where compassionate, personalized care is provided to each and every one of our patients. That’s one reason Boulder City Hospital has earned a 98 percent patient satisfaction score!

As we begin to build our brand new Gero-Psych wing, your care continues to remain our top priority. You can rest assured that construction has been carefully planned to ensure each and every service line remains in full operation throughout the entire process.
